THERE is reason to fear that the anti-Jewish disturbances in the Ukraine will grow into a fierce and bloody conflict. There has always been a deep-rooted detestation of the money-lender among the peasants of the Carpathians, and it is this which is now finding vent. This rising, Prof. Dragamauoff says, "was foreseen and predicted some time since by a small group of Jewish socialist refugees at Geneva, who issued : manifesto calling upon the Jewish proletaires in Russia and Galicia to detach themselves from the Jewish capitalists and to throw in their lot with the christian workmen and peasants in these countries."

JOHN McCullough has concluded his engagement at Drury Lane and will shortly return home.
